DETAILED ACTIONContinued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 6-30-04 has been entered.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: certain words have brackets of the type "[]" around them without an justification therefor in the grammatical sense, see e.g. pages 1, 4-7, 13, 15-17, etc that have these words: [a player], [objects], [this difference], [show that], [when the results], [the process], [the game], [a response], etc. It appears that the Applicants have been prosecuting the instant application for over three years as they still have not bothered to read their specification and correct these annoying errors to a reader skilled in the art with an amendment. These errors are throughout the instant specification and need to be corrected. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The rejection of claims 1-15 and 26 under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, is maintained from the Office action of 3-30-04 and is incorporated herein.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The rejection of claims 1-15 and 26 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aoshima et al. in view of Yamada further in view of Applicant's Admission of Prior Art is maintained from the Office action of 3-30-04 and is incorporated herein.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6-30-04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The remarks parallel the last set of remarks in the response dated 1-16-04. The Examiner fully addressed those remarks with respect to 35 U.S.C. §§ 112-1 and 103(a) in the Office action of 3-30-04. The instant Examiner is incorporating those eloquently stated remarks into this Office action because those remarks best express and address the issues. The instant Examiner would like to add some additional comments on the prosecution of the instant application taken by the Applicants. First comment is that the instant Examiner has thoroughly read the instant specification at does not find any basis for what is claimed within the amended claims 1-15 and 26. Pages 14 and 15 is where an embodiment of the invention is described. In sum, the disclosed invention is not couched in the terms that the Applicants are using to argue that the claimed invention is enabled by the instant specification. Page 14 is where the preferred embodiment is disclosed. It is described the protagonist character meets the practice character and a dialogue ensues. On page 15, it is described that the practice mode begins. On this page, it is further described that if the protagonist character performs the technique properly then praise is given, if not, then corrective action is given. Pages 17-20 is where another embodiment is disclosed. On page 17, it is described that during a roll playing game the practice character appears and a scene for training special techniques is displayed on the screen. Further on this page is described that the protagonist character has the option to accept training at this time. Page 18 is where it is described the competition between the protagonist and a competing character and where the ending of the competition is decided. Further on this page it is described that upon the ending of the competition either the game is over or the game loops back to practice mode. Page 19 elaborates on the practice mode. What is described therein is the protagonist character and practice character converse on a variety of subjects, some are unrelated to the game's progress but are important to have in order to increase the player's interest in the game. There appears described that the practice character tells the protagonist character what to do whereby the player does what is told by utilizing the controls on the input device. Practice continues until the player know how to and what needs to be pressed on the input device to have the protagonist character perform the practiced feat.

Art Unit: 3713

Further responding to the Applicants traversal of the 103(a) rejections, the Examiner respectfully disagrees with the Applicants contention that the Examiner did not establish the prima facie case and that all limitations are not disclosed, taught or suggested by the combination of references. The rejection makes clear what each reference discloses, teaches or suggests to one of ordinary skill in the art and why one skilled in the art would find it obvious to combination the references to meet the limitations of the claimed inventions.

Conclusion

All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114.

Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
